

We're helping people who need help. That's why I like working here. I enjoy the people.

— Jo, Executive Assistant

The mission is why I work for Goodwill. I can do my job and, in doing so, I am helping people at the same time.

— Aubrey, Store Processing Manager

Friendly staff... Good benefits... And it makes me feel good each morning coming into our main plant knowing Goodwill is helping the disabled and disadvantaged improve the quality of their lives.

— Nick, Vocational Rehabilitation Services

I've always been a people person. At Goodwill, everyone's job centers around serving people and the community.

— Stacy, Career Evaluator

These quotes — and all the photos in this brochure — are of actual Helping Hand of Goodwill Industries employees.

OUR HISTORY

Our non-profit agency has a history of more than 100 years of service in and around Greater Kansas City.

The Helping Hand Institute, founded in 1894, provided food and housing for destitute men, women and children. The first Kansas City Goodwill shop opened in 1925, becoming within 15 years a center concentrating on employment skills and vocational rehabilitation for persons with disabilities.

The Helping Hand Institute and Goodwill joined forces in 1978.
